

The Comma Separating two Independent Clauses

In each of these sentences, the comma is used to separate two independent clauses. An independent clause is a group of words that can stand on its own as a complete sentence. When two independent clauses are joined together, they must be separated by a comma.

Put the commas into the sentence where they belong:

- 1) I bought a new car but I still need to get my license.
- 2) I love to dance and I also love to sing.
- 3) I'm going to the store so I'll pick up some milk on my way home.
- 4) I'm not sure what I want to do for dinner so I'll ask my brother what he wants.
- 5) I'm going to the park and I'm going to bring my dog with me.
- 6) I'm going to the movies and I'm going to see the new Batman movie.
- 7) I'm going to the library and I'm going to check out a new book.
- 8) I'm going to the grocery store and I'm going to buy some eggs.
- 9) I'm going to the park and I'm going to play frisbee with my friends.
- 10) I need a new bike but my old bike works well.
- 11) I'm going to the library and I'm going to find a quiet place to read.
- 12) I'm going to the grocery store and I'm going to buy some cheese.
- 13) I love to play soccer and I also love to play basketball.
- 14) I'm going to the movies and I'm going to watch a scary movie.
- 15) I'm going to the library and I'm going to check out a book about history.
