

Liquids

- Particles are close together but have more room to move
- Flows and takes the shape of its container