Catchy Captions

Writing a good caption is important, it is what the reader reads first and it will often determine if the reader will continue to read the article or not. A good caption makes the reader want to know more.

The Task:

Look at the following photos and write a caption that: grabs the attention of the reader, supports the photo and provides a quick understanding of the article, yet makes the reader want to continue to read the article. When you look at the caption and the photo, ask yourself, what else do you find yourself wanting to know.
