

Can You Trust All News Activity

Sharing News:

Discuss the importance of not sharing news that is fake or incorrect. Emphasize that it's essential to be responsible and check the facts before sharing.

Activity

Fact Check Game: Play a simple fact-checking game where students are given news headlines, and they have to decide if they are real or fake. This can be done as a group activity.

Conclusion:

Recap: Summarize the key points of the lesson, emphasizing the importance of being critical when consuming news.

Assignment: Assign students a homework task to find a news story with their parents or guardians, discuss it, and share whether they think it's real or fake (with reasoning).

Assessment:

Assess students' understanding through class participation and their ability to identify real and fake news articles during the fact-checking game.

Extension Activity:

Encourage students to discuss the lesson with their families and ask their parents or guardians about their strategies for identifying fake news.

The Fake or True Learning Activities:

- Bananas – Fake
- Tongue Print - True