

Give each student a set of cards. Point to an object, or say a name of an object, then ask students to hold up the correct card to form a plural—s or es. This keeps all students engaged.

