

Sentence Study

Being kind is never wasted.

- 1 What is one thing you notice about this sentence?
- 2 What words might you change or add?
- 3 What punctuation is used in this sentence? Why?
- 4 What type of sentence is this and how do you know?
(Declarative, Interrogative, Imperative, Exclamatory.)
- 5 Show how you can re-write and improve this sentence:
- 6 Write 2 sentences similar to this one.

Possible Answers:

-It's a declarative sentence, it ends on a period, it begins with a capital and ends with a period.

-Kind is a noun, can you think of other words for kind?

-Wasted is an adjective—what does wasted mean in this sentence?

-Never is an adverb—what other adverbs could replace never?

This sentence provides lots of opportunity to embed 'commit to kindness' and why kindness is a great trait—brainstorm the kind acts students do.

Similar sentences could be (structure):

Eating healthy is always wise.

Playing with others can be fun.

Paying attention is always wise.