

Would you rather learn a traditional Christmas song from another country and perform it for your class or teach your class a song from your own cultural background?